SMALLEST DIGITAL CAMCORDER WITH CLARE-PROOF LCD SCREEN.
 Unlike other camcorder LCD screens that fade out in the sunlight, this model is the only one that uses a low temperature polysilicon 180,000-pixel screen that can be clearly seen even in direct sunlight. Smaller than a paperback book, it offers a picture quality and sound performance that is far superior to conventional Hi8 or VHS camcorders. The 2.5-inch color LCD monitor's flip-out screen (there's also a built-in viewfinder) has 400 TV lines of horizontal resolution and tilts up or down for high, low and counter angle shooting. Weighing just over one pound, it uses a miniature DV cassette for up to 60 minutes of recording and playback. Its 370,000-pixel, high-resolution CCD ensures enhanced detail and clarity, while a digital image stabilizer eliminates camera shake. Its downsized lens features an optical 10X zoom and a computer chip-enhanced 100X super digital zoom. Camcorder mounts to a docking station (included) which connects to a television or VCR for playback, editing, audio dubbing and special effects. With remote control, AC power adapter/battery charger, tape and all cables. 5" H x 3 1/2" L x 1 1/4" D.

Wireless database management now

Control your Oracle® databases from wireless handheld devices. For the first time, Oracle now lets the power to monitor and manage mission-critical databases on-the-go. The pocketDB™ is a comprehensive wireless solution for database administration needs, from basic routine to critical performance. With a Palm OS® or Windows CE™ handheld, Oracle databases can now be instantly updated, queried or monitored - from wherever the DBA happens to be. To query or troubleshoot away from the office, Oracle no longer needs to spend valuable time getting in desktops, booting up, or dialing in. Companies gain the competitive advantage when databases can be managed at all times.
